

Thank you for choosing BritRail to explore Britain!

Don't forget to validate your pass before your first journey:

On the first day you wish to use your pass, please take it to a National Rail ticket office and ask them to date it with the date of validity. This will activate your pass. Your pass will not be valid unless this is done. If your first journey is from an unstaffed station, your pass will be valid provided you take it to be validated at the next interchange station or upon arrival at your destination.

Please note that holders of "Flexible" BritRail Passes must also enter in their travel date in sequential order in the calendar box on their pass prior to boarding the train each day.

The pass must be validated within 180 days of the purchase date.

Terms and Conditions:

Full Terms and Conditions can be found at britrail.com/britrail-passes/eligibility-conditions-of-use/ or by scanning this QR code

General Conditions for all BritRail Consecutive and Flexipasses: Validated passes which include days when no train service operates (Christmas, etc.) will be extended by the number of days when no service operates. First Class Pass holders should note that some trains provide standard accommodation only, this is allowed for in the pricing of the First Class Pass.

BritRail Passes are valid from 00:00 hrs to 24:00 hrs (Midnight to Midnight) on a chosen day of travel. If a pass holder is traveling on an overnight train containing sleeper accommodation, the next day's date must be inserted. The BritRail Pass and the BritRail FlexiPass (First Class and Standard Class) allows travel on all scheduled trains of Participating Operators in Great Britain (or temporary replacement road services). BritRail Passes are valid on Gatwick Express, Heathrow Express and Stansted Express.

Seat Reservations: Reservations for particular journeys are not compulsory, but for busy trains are advisable (ie: mainlines in peak hours.) It is not necessary to validate a pass in order to reserve a seat / sleeping berth in advance. Normal fees are payable.

Purchase Restrictions: Pass holders must be non-UK residents. BritRail and its train company staff may ask at any time for proof of foreign residency and reserve the right to confiscate the pass in such circumstances. The BritRail ticket is non-transferable and must only be used by the person or persons specified on the ticket.

Prices: BritRail reserves the right to change prices without notice whether such changes are related or not to alterations in the rates of exchange.

Refunds will be granted if: The unvalidated Pass or original exchange coupon or voucher is returned to the travel agent/website from which it was purchased during the time period specified by the travel agent/website. Passes or tickets must bear no evidence of having been tampered with in any way. No refund can be made in Britain. No refund can be made if the Pass cannot be produced. Refunds are not given on validated Passes once the commencement date has been reached.

Where a Pass forms part of an Inclusive Tour Package, it is not separately refundable. Where no other cancellation charges are specified by travel agent, the cancellation charge will be a minimum of 15%. Special offers are not refundable. Neither the Participating Operators nor their Agents can accept any responsibility for any failure in the provision of any special offers included. Refunds should be sent back to the agent who you originally purchased it through. Seat and Sleeper reservations are non refundable.

Lost Tickets: BritRail is not responsible for tickets or vouchers, which are lost, stolen, mutilated or destroyed. Refunds cannot be authorized in such cases. Therefore, travel insurance is recommended. The agent you purchase this Rail Pass through may also advise a rail protection cover for your pass while travelling.
